- 3. Financing Structure and Security. EXIM retains final approval with respect to the financing structure of each EXIM supported aircraft financing. EXIM aircraft financing structures must be in accordance with the OECD Arrangement 2011 Aircraft Sector Understanding, which entered into effect on February 1, 2011 (the "2011 ASU"). The 2011 ASU sets forth the maximum financing terms that can be offered to an airline by EXIM, as well as a market-reflective risk premium that must be charged for each transaction. The standard EXIM commercial aircraft transaction is structured as a guaranteed loan to a special purpose company with a full payout finance lease between the special purpose company and the airline. The special purpose company must be established in a jurisdiction acceptable to EXIM.

For government-owned airlines, EXIM may require some level of government support up to and including a sovereign guarantee depending upon the analysis of the airline's credit. For all large aircraft transactions, EXIM will require that a valid and enforceable lien be placed on the aircraft to be financed. In addition, EXIM may require additional risk mitigants in the financing structure to comply with the terms of the 2011 ASU. Such risk mitigants could include, but are not limited to, a reduced repayment term, a higher cash payment, or a cash security deposit.

If EXIM has no prior or recent experience with asset-based structures in the airline's country or if the laws pertaining to registration and mortgages have been amended since a previous EXIM-backed transaction, the airline will need to provide information regarding aircraft registration and mortgage laws. Please contact the Transportation Division to determine if EXIM has recent or prior experience in the airline's country. Supplemental information on these issues may be required during the processing of the application and EXIM may ask the applicant to pay for outside counsel or consultants selected by EXIM to research particular issues and provide information on how mortgages, other security filings, insolvency, and related matters are handled under the domestic legal system. Include with the application any additional information that may facilitate EXIM's determination of whether the financing parties can acquire effective security over the financed assets that would prevail over competing claims.
